COOKIES POLICY

We use cookies on our website (our site) for a number of purposes. They help us provide you with a good experience when you browse our website, and also allow us to improve our site.

A cookie is a small file of letters and numbers that we store on your browser or your device when you visit our website. We use the following cookies:

- Necessary cookies - These cookies are essential and required for the correct operation of our website. They include, for example, cookies that enable you to securely and anonymously log into our website. These cookies, none of which capture personal data, are as follows:
    o Visitor ID: This cookie is a numeric value that identifies unique visitors and provides coherence and consistency to a site visit o Page Number: This cookie identifies the page you are on o Session ID: This cookie identifies your website session
- Analytical/Statistics cookies - These cookies allow us to recognize and count the number of visitors and to see how visitors move around our website while using it. This helps us improve the way our website works, and make it more relevant to your interests. We may also share this information with third parties for this purpose.

Third-Party Cookies

Our website will set some types of third-party cookies, and we do not control the operation of any of them. The third-party cookies that may be set include:

- Google Analytics - We use Google Analytics to collect data about website usage. This data does not include personally identifiable information. You can view the Google Privacy Policy here: https://www.google.com/policies/privacy/

Most web browsers allow some control of most cookies through the browser settings. To find out more about cookies, including how to see what cookies have been set, visit http://www.allaboutcookies.org/

To opt out of being tracked by Google Analytics across all websites, visit https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout